

It Takes A Village

It takes a village to raise our children, right? Our village is a great support system full of people that care about us, help us when we need it, and want us to be safe. It's important for your children to know they have a support system full of trusted adults that they can trust and talk to about any tricky or dangerous situation, or just talk to if they have questions. Talk to your children; who is in their support system? It's more than just family! It can be:

Teachers

Counselors

Coaches

Neighbors

Who else is in your child's support system?
